

GEB3213

Lecture 5: Continuity

Continuity

- Continuity performs what function in sentences?

Stress

- What's so important about the stress position?
- And how does it come by its name?

Long Sentences

- Why should you avoid writing long sentences?

Shorter Is Better

- How many items should you optimally limit lists to?

Transitions

- How do transitions work?
- I deally, you should use a transition for every ___ sentences.

Transitions

- Give three examples of transitions.

Transitions - miscellaneous

- What else can you use as transitions?
- What should be your guiding principles in using transitions?

Transitions - How to Use Them

- Where should you place transitions?

Sequencing

- What are other methods you can use to make sentences hang together?
- How doe sequencing work?

Writing Myths You'll Wish You Never Learned

- What are two writing myths you probably learned but which are totally untrue?

Continuity Principle #4

- What's the gist of continuity principle #4?

Final Continuity Principle

- When should you deliberately use passive construction?

End of Outline
